Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) is a lifelong disability that affects the way people relate to the world around them. Those affected typically display impairments in social interaction, communication and behavior.

Teachers using iPads as tools to connect with children with ASD. Children with Autism are showing improvements in their educational and social pursuits using iPads and customized software applications that are installed on them. Special education professionals are asked to recommend children who would benefit from this technology; Kiwanis Clubs then work to fulfill the grants that are applied for.
